

How does London compare?

London's average temperature is higher than the world's average between the years 1800 and 2013.

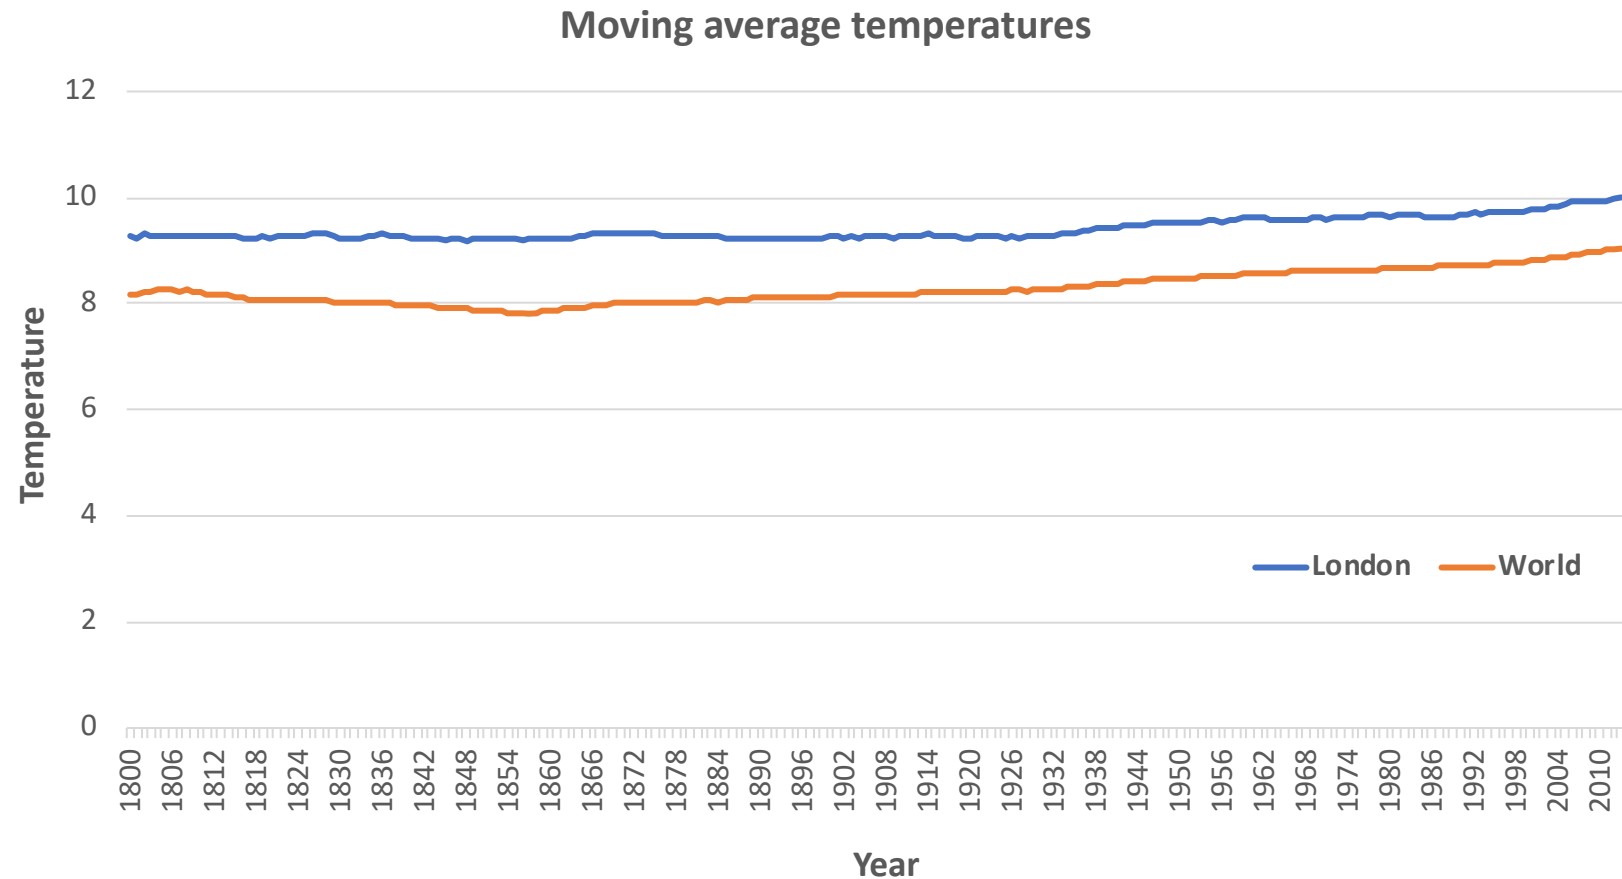

Observation 1

Observation 2

Observation 3

Observation 4

Is London following the world trend?

London seems to be following the global trend of increase in average temperature.

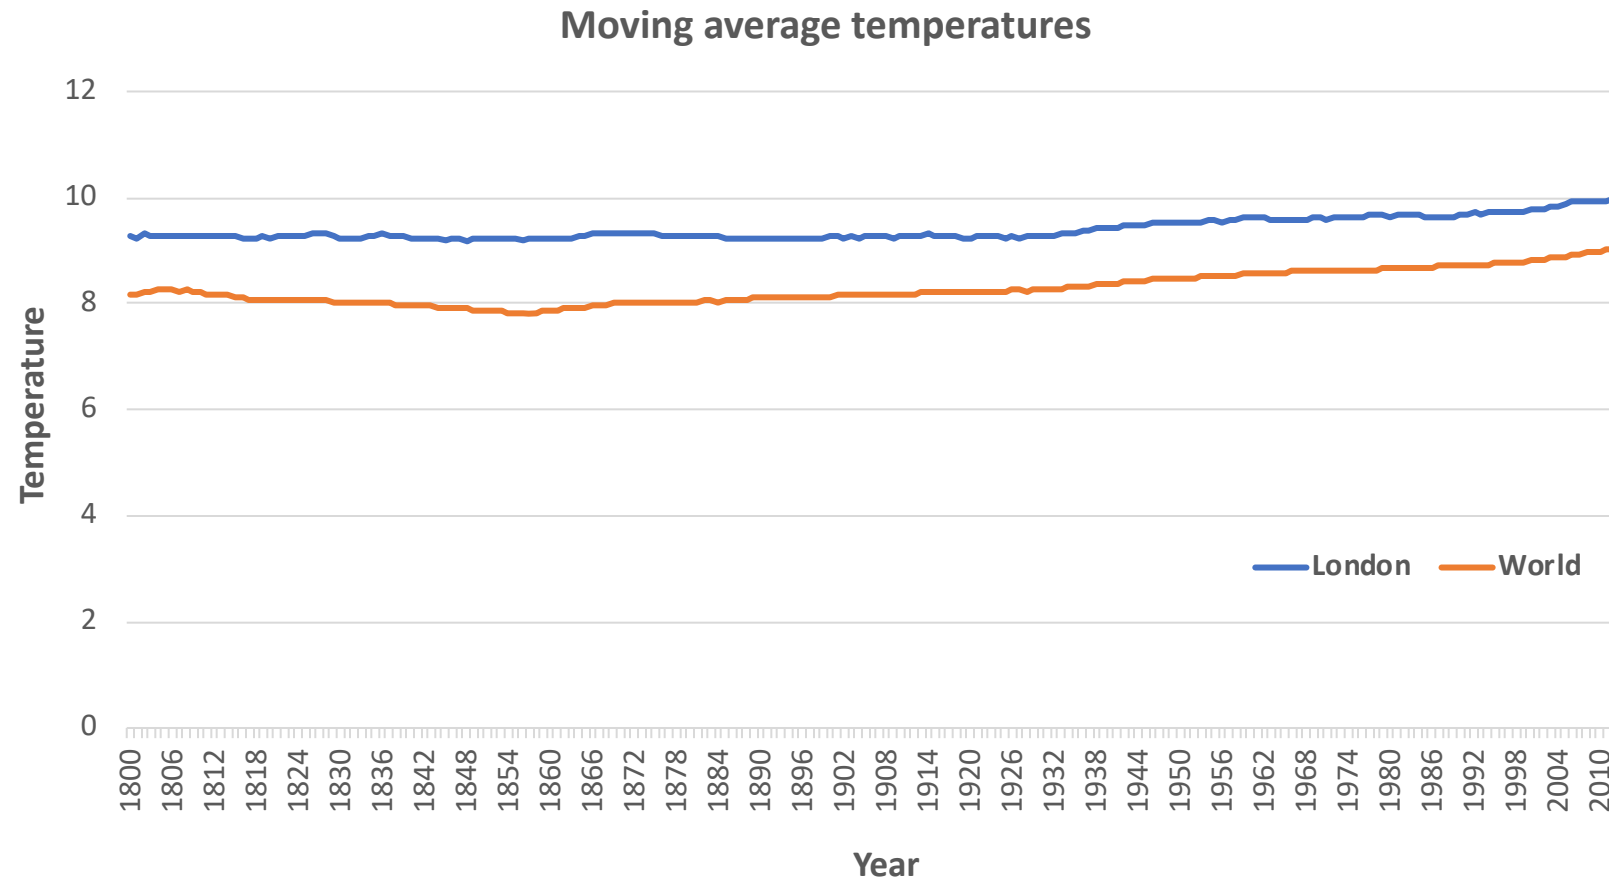

Observation 1

Observation 2

Observation 3

Observation 4

Is there convergence?

The world and London temperature seem to be slowly converging to the same number since the mid 1800s.

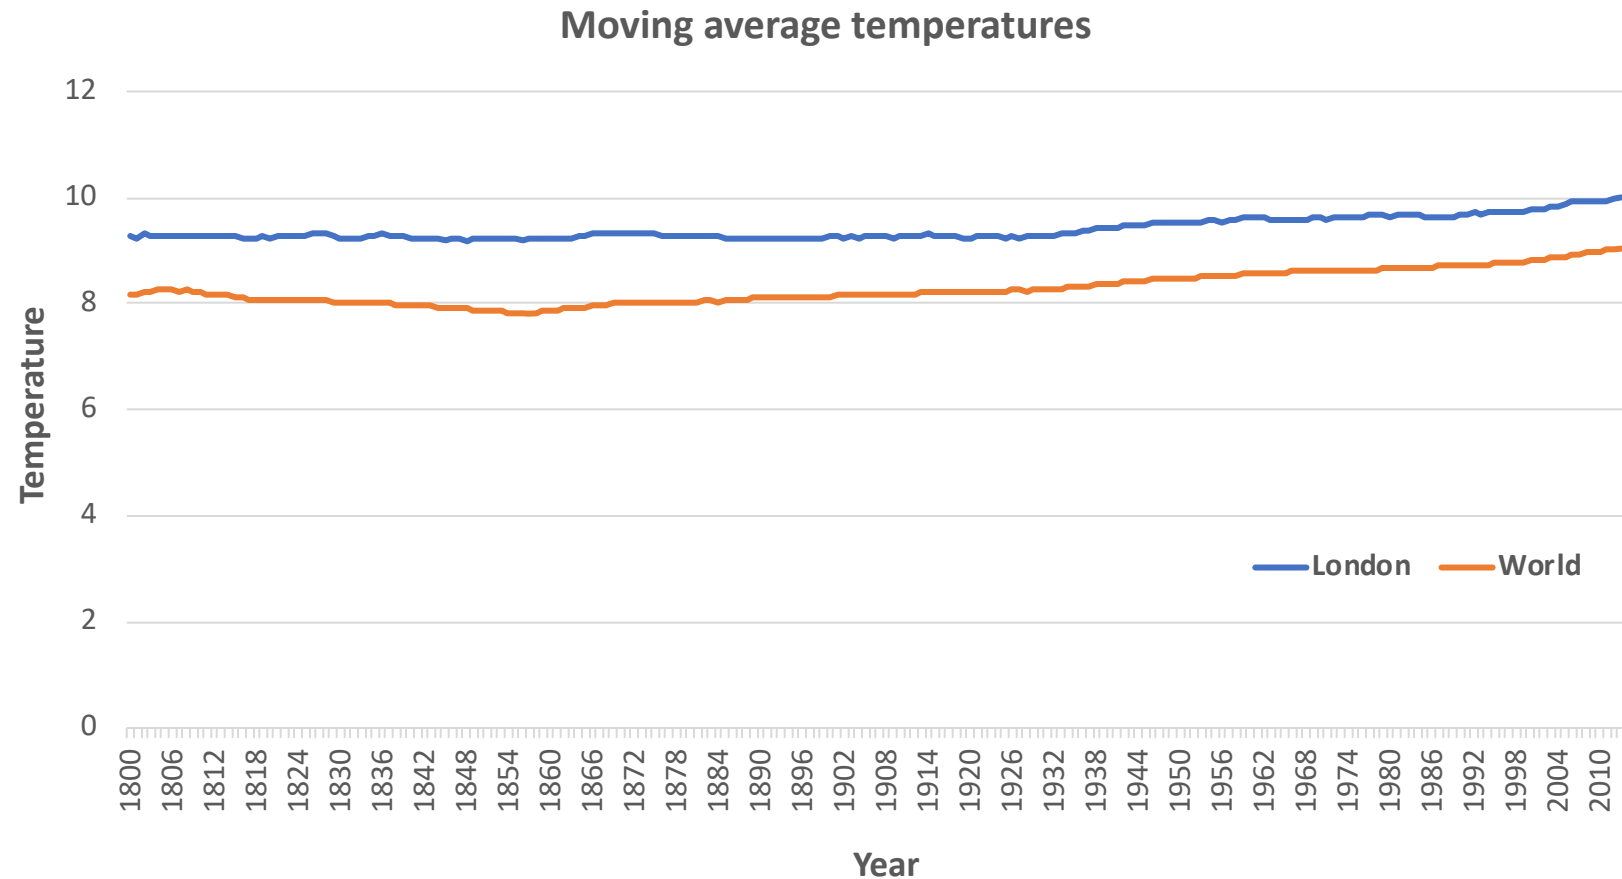

Observation 1

Observation 2

Observation 3

Observation 4

How do the extremes compare?

Both London and the world report higher temperatures today than they did in 1800.

Observation 1

Observation 2

Observation 3

Observation 4